The cost of care varies based on geographic region, type, number of children or pets and level of care (i.e., infant care prices often differ from the cost of care for school-age children). In the Trust and Safety Center on the Sittercity site, you can use a rate calculator to determine the appropriate pricing based on region, number of children and years of experience the caregiver has. Also, when posting a job, you are able to indicate the rate preferred per hour and work with caregivers that best fit your financial requirements.

Where can I find more information about virtual sitting?

Sittercity has posted a variety of resources about virtual sitting, sitter selection, activity planning, and safety to the Trust & Safety section of their website. It states that a virtual sitting is when a caregiver cares for a child digitally for a short period of time; it is not a replacement for physical care. You can find some additional information here.

How does virtual sitting work?

A virtual sitter engages with a child or children via an online video platform set up by the parent (e.g., Skype, Zoom, FaceTime), according to a plan agreed upon by the parent and sitter in advance. These sessions may be structured to include interactive games and assistance with schoolwork. Parents should remain mindful that there could be lag or glitches or other technological issues during their children's virtual sitting session. For the children's safety, it's important for parents to never leave them unattended during a virtual sitting session.

Is there a minimum time requirement for virtual sitting?

Virtual sitting jobs can be posted for a minimum of one hour.

What is the average cost of virtual sitting?

Sittercity recommends that families pay sitters a standard sitter rate for virtual sitter sessions or in-person caregiving. The national typical hourly rate of sitters in 2020 is $16.50 per hour, according to Sittercity data. Regional information can be found here.

Nanny Placement

How does the nanny placement process work?

This service is offered through College Nannies and starts with a family consultation to establish your family's unique needs. After signing up with a local College Nannies office, College Nannies will evaluate your schedule, ages of children, job duties, interests, and desired experience and attributes for your perfect nanny. As candidates are identified, you will receive an electronic profile for review and then arrangements will be made for your interviews. College Nannies follows up with both the family and candidate to ensure both parties feel it is a great fit before moving forward. After selection, orientation will be provided for the new nanny and College Nannies is available to help with the process of settling in for an exceptional experience. The discounted nanny placement fee and hourly charges for care will be paid by you directly to the local College Nannies office.

How do I connect with College Nannies?

To connect with College Nannies, go to <https://clients.brighthorizons.com/publicis> and click on Access Nanny Placement Services under Additional Family Supports. This will bring you to the College Nannies website, where you submit a short inquiry form. Your local College Nannies office will make contact within 48 hours to begin the consultation process.

Are all nannies college educated?

Most nannies have completed some type of post-secondary education. Many are either current college students or recent college graduates.

How are the nannies screened and trained?

A comprehensive background screen is conducted by an accredited national background screening agency and includes state and federal criminal history, National Sex Offender database check, and address history. This is completed as part of the nanny placement service at no additional fee. During initial orientation, all nannies must take training courses on child safety, security, child development, and age-appropriate fun. For ongoing training, College Nannies offers videos, print resources, resource directories, the most up-to-date tools available, and the ongoing professional guidance of the local College Nannies team. You can also elect to be matched with a nanny who is trained as a learning coach to support students with online instruction – see more information below.
